A Day in the Life of Our Clubs: COSMOS CLUB

In Cosmos Club, we have been learning about Outer Space through scientific experiments. One such activity that was widely popular was our Space Lander Mission. We watched a clip from NASA astronauts, detailing their experience in landing crafts and the engineering techniques that go into designing a space craft that will land safely on a planet or moon. We then transferred this idea into our own project, designing styro-foam cups as Landing Crafts, with Marshmallow Aliens inside. The goal: design a shock-absorbing lander, so the aliens remain safe inside the landing craft.

Students spent over an hour creating and testing their designs, getting them just right. We then journeyed to the 2nd story and prepared for the drop—every student's landing craft made a successful landing to the 1st floor!

Please join us on Wednesday, Jan 25th from 4—5:30 for our Parent Showcase Night, highlighting all of the fun & educational Clubs students have participated in this past semester!
