

November review: On The Go

In November, we explored the topic “On The Go”. Week one we talked about the road, what signs we may see on the road, maps and bridges. During week two we talked about different ways we can travel, whether it be by car, truck, bike or by foot. During week three we took a close look at transportation in the air and by water. Lastly, we explored public transportation via bus or taxi.

For November we focused on:

One day’s discovery!

- C is for car
- With playdough children could make their own roads and drive their cars around them. We added different trees and signs to make it more like driving around town. Children really let their imaginations go wild and added parks and lakes to their very own creations.
- Parking Cars game. We discussed where parents park their cars. Children were given a parking card sheet and had to roll the die. Children had to identify that number and park the car in that space. They continued to take turns with their partners and were done once their parking lot was complete.
- We made a car wash tunnel for the children to crawl through. A variety of active stations were added and we took turns going through all the different stations.
