Comings Soon: April Flowers

It's official: the days are getting longer. Birds are coming back, squirrels are large and in charge, and March Madness has ended (we hope your bracket did well this year!). As your return from your Spring Break escapades, consider taking a moment to marvel at how much your young ones have grown since Thanksgiving— some of these Kindergarteners in particular have shot up like dandelions after rain.

March was a busy month here at Minneapolis Kids. From making Hummus from scratch to demonstrating the refraction of light, to attempting to make the biggest Magnatiles tower there's ever been, these kids have been working hard. We hope that April brings us even more fortune and excitement.

Regretfully, we have to say goodbye to our newest staff, Tiffany: she will be moving on to an opportunity much closer to her home. She wanted to say that she will miss all the kids, and we want to say that we will miss her as well.

Meet Amanda!

Please welcome our newest staff! Amanda comes to us with a BA in Elementary Ed from Augsburg College. She has been an Au Pair for a family in Spain, and she has had student teaching experience. Amanda is excited about planning projects and is looking forward to getting to know all our wonderful kids!
